INSTRUCTIONS AND INFORMATION

1. This question paper consists of SECTION A and SECTION B based on the prescribed content framework in the CAPS document.

SECTION A: SOURCE-BASED QUESTIONS

- QUESTION 1: CIVIL RESISTANCE, 1970s TO 1980s: SOUTH AFRICA
- QUESTION 2: THE COMING OF DEMOCRACY TO SOUTH AFRICA AND COMING TO TERMS WITH THE PAST
- QUESTION 3: THE END OF THE COLD WAR AND A NEW WORLD ORDER, 1989 TO THE PRESENT

SECTION B: ESSAY QUESTIONS

- QUESTION 4: CIVIL RESISTANCE, 1970s TO 1980s: SOUTH AFRICA – THE CRISIS OF APARTHEID IN THE 1980s
- QUESTION 5: THE COMING OF DEMOCRACY TO SOUTH AFRICA AND COMING TO TERMS WITH THE PAST
- QUESTION 6: THE END OF THE COLD WAR AND A NEW WORLD ORDER: THE EVENTS OF 1989
2. SECTION A consists of THREE source-based questions. Source material that is required to answer these questions can be found in the ADDENDUM.
 3. SECTION B consists of THREE essay questions.
 4. Answer THREE questions as follows:
 - 4.1 At least ONE must be a source-based question and at least ONE must be an essay question.
 - 4.2 The THIRD question can be either a source-based question or an essay question.
 5. You are advised to spend at least ONE hour per question
 6. When answering questions, you should apply your knowledge, skills and insight.
 7. You will be disadvantaged by merely rewriting the sources as answers.
 8. Number the answers correctly according to the numbering system used in this question paper.
 9. Write neatly and legibly.

SECTION A: SOURCE-BASED QUESTIONS

Answer at least ONE question, but not more than TWO questions, in this section. Source material that is required to answer these questions is contained in the ADDENDUM.

QUESTION 1: HOW DID CIVIC ORGANISATIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA RESPOND TO PW BOTHA'S REFORMS AND APARTHEID RESTRICTIONS IN THE 1980s?

Study Sources 1A, 1B, 1C and 1D and answer the questions that follow.

1.1 Use Source 1A.

- 1.1.1 Identify any THREE demands made by the community organisations from the government. (3 x 1) (3)
- 1.1.2 What form, according to the source, did the consumer boycotts take? (1 x 1) (1)
- 1.1.3 Explain the term State of Emergency in your own words. (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.1.4 What, in your opinion, would have contributed to the infighting between the two liberal organisations AZAPO and UDF. (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.1.5 Comment on what is implied by the statement, '... they had to ensure that it took a constructive political direction.' (1 x 2) (2)

1.2 Study Source 1B.

- 1.2.1 Why, according to the speaker in the source, were many townships aflame? (1 x 1) (1)
- 1.2.2 Name any TWO structures mentioned in the source that were inspired by the 'M Plan' of the 1950s. (2 x 1) (2)
- 1.2.3 Explain in your own words how the following boycotts were conducted by activists during the 1980s:
- (a) Rent (1 x 2) (2)
- (b) Consumer (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.2.4 What did Mr Obed Bapela mean when he said 'Alexandra then came into the picture' in the context of townships reacting to apartheid laws? (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.2.5 Why would you regard the source reliable to a historian studying the activities of civic organisations against the apartheid government in the 1980s? (2 x 2) (4)

- 1.3 Refer to Source 1C.
- 1.3.1 What, according to the source, is 'Operation Palmiet'? (1 x 1) (1)
- 1.3.2 Explain the concept End Conscription Campaign in the context of the resistance against Botha's reforms. (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.3.3 Quote evidence from the source which suggests that during the Transvaal's biggest stayaway, the national leaders of the UDF could not meet. (1 x 1) (1)
- 1.3.4 Explain what is implied by the statement, 'The Transvaal stayaway showed the power of mass action, but it did not stop the repression' in the context of the protest actions in the 1980s. (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.3.5 Using the information in the source and your own knowledge, explain how black communities justified killing other black community members. (1 x 2) (2)
- 1.3.6 How many people, according to the source, did the SADF kill in Botswana? (1 x 1) (1)
- 1.4 Consult Source 1D.
- 1.4.1 Why do you think this poster was created? (2 x 2) (4)
- 1.4.2 What evidence from the source indicates that the poster appeals to the following?
- (a) The government (1 x 1) (1)
- (b) The ordinary citizens (1 x 1) (1)
- 1.5 Refer to Sources 1B and 1D. Explain how the information in Source 1B supports evidence in Source 1D regarding the resistance to apartheid in the 1980s. (2 x 2) (4)
- 1.6 Using the information in the relevant sources and your own knowledge, write a paragraph of about EIGHT lines (about 80 words) explaining how civic organisations in South Africa responded to PW Botha's reforms and apartheid restrictions in the 1980s. (8)

[50]

QUESTION 2: HOW DID THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (TRC) DEAL WITH THE CASE OF THE CRADOCK FOUR?

Study sources 2A, 2B, 2C and 2D and answer the questions that follow.

2.1 Read Source 2A.

- 2.1.1 What, according to the source, was the critical question raised by the fall of apartheid in South Africa? (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.1.2 Define the concept restorative justice in your own words. (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.1.3 Why, do you think, did the TRC not focus on punishment and the prosecution of the perpetrators of human rights? (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.1.4 Comment on the requirements that the perpetrators had to meet to be granted amnesty. (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.1.5 Identify from the source, any THREE anti-apartheid activists that were murdered by the security police. (3 x 1) (3)

2.2 Study Source 2B.

- 2.2.1 Give TWO pieces of evidence from the source which suggests that the Cradock Four were murdered by the security police. (2 x 1) (2)
- 2.2.2 Quote evidence from the source which indicates that the apartheid security police applied for amnesty. (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.2.3 Explain the concept amnesty in the context of the TRC. (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.2.4 Using the information in the source and your own knowledge, explain why you think the second inquest was approved to investigate the Cradock Four murder case. (1 x 2) (2)
- 2.2.5 Explain the implication of the phrase, 'an authorisation that the above-mentioned persons should be permanently removed as a matter of urgency from society' in the context of the security police activities in Cradock. (1 x 2) (2)

2.3 Consult Source 2C.

2.3.1 Why do you think this poster was created? (2 x 2) (4)

2.3.2 Explain what is implied by the statement, 'let's speak out to each other ... so that we can walk the road to reconciliation together', in the context of the TRC hearings. (2 x 2) (4)

2.4 Use Source 2D.

2.4.1 Why, according to the source, did the families of the Cradock Four decide to go ahead with a class-action (group) lawsuit? (1 x 2) (2)

2.4.2 Who, according to the source, was the last living suspect in the Cradock Four murder case? (1 x 1) (1)

2.4.3 Why would a historian regard this source as useful when researching the Cradock Four case? (2 x 2) (4)

2.4.4 What is the implication of Mrs Calata's words "I think that even our government is scared to prosecute because if it did, those responsible would implicate some people in our organisation (ANC)"? (1 x 2) (2)

2.5 Refer to Sources 2C and 2D. Explain how the information in Source 2C differs from the evidence in Source 2D regarding how the TRC dealt with the Cradock Four murder case. (2 x 2) (4)

2.6 Using the information in the relevant sources and your own knowledge, write a paragraph of about EIGHT lines (about 80 words) explaining how the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) dealt with the murder case of the Cradock Four. (8)

QUESTION 1: HOW DID CIVIC ORGANISATIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA RESPOND TO PW BOTHA'S REFORMS AND APARTHEID RESTRICTIONS IN THE 1980s?

The extract below outlines the reaction of the United Democratic Front (UDF) and community affiliated organisations to Botha's reforms in the 1980s.

The consumer boycott call came out of community organisations and grew in 1985, spearheaded (led) by the UDF and affiliated organisations. These put forward explicitly (clearly) political national demands: lifting the State of Emergency, removing the police and army from townships, and releasing all political prisoners and detainees.

The boycotts took the form of not buying from mainly white-owned shops and shops owned by black collaborators with the apartheid regime. In some cases, these were supplemented (accompanied) by local demands such as those for democratic student representative councils and demands aimed at local government. COSATU added a national demand for political rights for all.

The boycott began piecemeal (disorganised) in a number of small Cape towns. It grew in Port Elizabeth by mid-July, then spread through the rest of the Eastern Cape, and to the Western Cape, the Transvaal, and Natal.

A report on the consumer boycotts in Work in Progress in 1985 states:

The first major urban focus of consumer boycott action, Port Elizabeth, has seen almost total community support for the campaign since it began on 14 July ... The initiative for the boycott came in early July from a group of township women, which grew from an initial 150 to 700. A number were members of the Port Elizabeth Black Civic Organisation (PEBCO), and the Port Elizabeth Youth Congress (PEYCO), but many were unaligned (disunited). They were angry about police brutality, the State of Emergency, township conditions, and the infighting between the UDF and AZAPO (Azanian People's Organisation). Local community activists and leaders were hesitant about taking boycott action, and this was debated thoroughly ... community organisers felt they could not ignore spontaneous action from their constituents (voters). But they had to ensure it took a constructive political direction, and that organisational strength and depth were improved in the process ... The UDF and its affiliates took the lead in discussing tactics and calling the boycott.

The article below is the description by Obed Bapela (a political activist during the apartheid era) of the formation of street committees and people's courts in Alexandra in the 1980s. He gave this testimony during a TRC hearing in October 1996 in Alexandra.

The events that led to the six-day war started in 1985, around June I think, when many townships in South Africa were aflame (fired-up). There was a lot of activity and uprisings in most of the townships at that time and the Eastern Cape was leading at that period I am mentioning, and this sort of inspired a number of other townships in the belief that the activities in the Eastern Cape reminded them of the "M plan"* , the Mandela plan, which was known in the 1950s, and then people wanted really to also begin a process of establishing those structures of the street committees, the block committees and the yard committees within their own areas, within their own townships. And also in the Transvaal, the then Transvaal, the main activity was the start of the rent boycotts in the Vaal, Sebokeng and Sharpeville townships and then it spread to Soweto, and also Alexandra then came into the picture during 1986. And also during 1985 there was the consumer boycott ... those activities were also happening in Alexandra, where people were stopped from buying from white shops and then only to buy from the black shops.

So those then are the events that built on the mobilisation which was there in Alexandra and around January there were shootings that occurred at shops in Third Avenue and London Street ... I don't know what provoked the incidents but what we read was that the security guard who was employed there shot at some youths who were coming to buy or were playing around at that particular area ... So then one of those youths who was shot was Michael Duradingwe and I think that provoked the whole situation in Alexandra, that killing ... during the weekend on which he was buried, which was the weekend of February 15, the funeral took place at the Alexandra stadium and then after the funeral ... the police came and tear-gassed people at that funeral and that provoked the youth of our township to really then mobilise. And then attacks started where police became the targets and then Alexandra was in flames for a period of six days and that is why we lost about 19 people during that particular period in time.

The idea (of forming street committees) was an idea which we saw developing in the Eastern Cape and fortunately at that time I was working for the Media and Resource Centre and one used to travel a lot to the Eastern Cape to go and trade ideas about organisations, media skills and pamphleteering (designing pamphlets) and so forth. So one was exposed to street committees; how they operate and function ...

* M-Plan: A plan in black communities to provide alternative structures in the absence of any government services

SOURCE 1C

The source below explains how the apartheid government clamped down on anti-apartheid activities in black townships in the 1980s.

In October 1984 the apartheid state responded to the Vaal unrest and the almost total boycott of the coloured and Indian elections by sending 7 000 South African Defence Force (SADF) troops into the black townships of the Vaal to crush the uprising. They named this 'Operation Palmiet'.

The UDF, and a newly formed organisation called the End Conscription Campaign (ECC) demanded that SADF troops leave the townships.

In November UDF affiliates in the Transvaal organised the biggest work stayaway in 35 years. This was done through civics, youth groups, trade unions, and other township-based organisations. The UDF national leadership was in disarray (disorder) at the time – either in detention or in hiding – and thus unable to meet. The Transvaal stayaway showed the power of mass action, but it did not stop the repression. Both the mass violence and the government repression spread further.

Over the first part of 1985, police and the SADF were deployed in townships throughout the country. Police and the army fired on crowds – often on people gathered to bury the dead from earlier shootings. Leaders and activists were detained. Communities – both in urban and in rural areas – turned on those people seen as working for the government – policemen, "community councillors", government informers, "collaborators". Some were killed; others fled. On March 21 – the anniversary of the 1960 Sharpeville massacre – police opened fire on a demonstration in Uitenhage killing 20 people.

On May 8, three leaders of the Port Elizabeth Civic Organisation, PEBCO – Siphon Hashe, Qaqawuli Godolozzi and Champion Galela – were abducted and murdered by South African security police.

On June 14, the SADF attacked the homes of people in exile in Botswana, killing 12 people.

In July, four leaders of the Cradock community, Matthew Goniwe, Fort Calata, Sicelo Mhlauli and Sparrow Mkhonto (the Cradock Four) were found murdered.

QUESTION 2: HOW DID THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (TRC) DEAL WITH THE MURDER CASE OF THE CRADOCK FOUR?

SOURCE 2A

The source below focuses on the reasons for the establishment of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) in 1995.

The fall of apartheid and the numerous (many) examples of state-mandated human rights abuses against its opponents raised a number of critical (important) questions for South Africans at the time. Among the many issues addressed, was the need to create an institution for the restoration of justice that had been denied to many victims who were killed during the apartheid rule. Much like the numerous (many) truth commissions established in Eastern Europe and Latin America after the introduction of democracy in those regions, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in South Africa emerged from the Kempton Park negotiations between the National Party (NP) and the African National Congress (ANC) as part of the negotiated transition (change) to democracy in South Africa. It was founded with the aim of establishing a restorative, rather than retributive justice.

The goal of the TRC was not to prosecute and impose punishment on perpetrators of the state's suppression (crushing) of its opposition, but rather to bring closure to the many victims and their families in the form of a full disclosure of the truth. The amnesty hearings undertaken by the TRC between 23 February and 6 March 1998 represent these aims, by offering full amnesty to those who came forward and confessed their crimes.

In the case of Johan van Zyl, Eric Taylor, Gerhardus Lotz, Nicholas Van Rensburg, Harold Snyman and Hermanus du Plessis, the amnesty hearings offer more than just a testimony of their crimes. The amnesty hearings for the murders of a group of anti-apartheid activists known as the Cradock Four (Matthew Goniwe, Sparrow Mkhonto, Fort Calata and Sicelo Mhlauli) show the extent of violence that the apartheid state used on its own citizens to silence any opposition and maintain its authority.

SOURCE 2B

The source below was taken from the Daily Maverick. It outlines how the Cradock Four anti-apartheid activists were murdered by the Security police in 1985.

On 27 June 1985, four anti-apartheid activists from Cradock; Matthew Goniwe, Fort Calata, Sicelo Mhlauli and Sparrow Mkonto travelled back from a United Democratic Front (UDF) meeting in Gqeberha, (formerly Port Elizabeth) to Cradock. The four never arrived back in Cradock. They were intercepted (caught) by the security police on their way home, and their charred remains were discovered days later. Badly burnt, their bodies each bore (had) numerous stab wounds; forensic reports confirmed signs of torture and other physical harm. Their car, which had also been burnt beyond recognition, had licence plates affixed (glued) that appeared to be untouched by the effects of the fire and that did not belong to the original car.

... Although the apartheid state denied its involvement in the murder of the Cradock Four, the identities of the killers began to emerge at the two inquests (investigations), including later when they applied for amnesty to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC). Revelations of the secret military signal (instruction) dated June 1985 emerged, indicating that the four activists had been murdered at the behest (request) of the State Security Council (SSC).

Former President De Klerk, under pressure from media groups, the Black Sash and the families, following the New Nation's publication of the top-secret military signal (instruction), was compelled (forced) to authorise a second inquest (investigation) in 1992.

The leaked military signal (instruction) written in Afrikaans, translated to an authorisation that "the above-mentioned persons should be permanently removed as a matter of urgency from society".

SOURCE 2D

The source below is an extract taken from the Herald Live. It highlights how the Cradock Four families (led by Mrs Calata) reacted to the National Prosecution Authority (NPA) for delaying the prosecution of the State Security police for the murder of the Cradock Four in 1985. The families applied for a class-action (group) lawsuit against the NPA.

The families of the slain anti-apartheid activists known as the Cradock Four are forging (moving) ahead with a class-action (group) lawsuit to sue the state for delaying the prosecution of those responsible for their deaths. Fort Calata's wife, Nomonde, said the family had recently met lawyers to pave a way forward in their pursuit (search) for justice in the murder of their loved ones after the death of Hermanus Barend du Plessis, the last living suspect in the murder case. She said their pursuit (search) for justice included 25 other families who were part of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and had lost loved ones at the hands of apartheid police.

"We met with our lawyers on Saturday to iron out a few things that still need to be done in our pursuit (search) for justice," she said. Calata said though there was no one left to prosecute after Du Plessis' death on 16 May 2023, there was enough evidence to sue the state because the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) had allegedly deliberately delayed prosecutions many times. "So the state now has to take responsibility," she said. "We believe the delay was on purpose. I think that even our government is scared to prosecute because if it did, those responsible would implicate (link) some people in our organisation [ANC]. Or maybe during the time of negotiations for democracy, it was agreed that freedom would be granted provided that some political cases are set aside." She said their lawyers were preparing to file legal papers because they wanted the matter to be concluded by May. Calata added that they had given the state enough time.

"This is not only about the Calata family or the money because no amount of money can bring back my husband but if we can be able, out of whatever is going on, to take forth my husband's legacy and do what he wished for the people of Lingelihle township, it will bring closure to me and my family, and only after can I die in peace knowing justice was served," Calata said.

QUESTION 3: HOW HAS GLOBALISATION AFFECTED FOOD SECURITY IN DEVELOPED AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES IN THE 21ST CENTURY?

SOURCE 3A

The source below is a report on the Global Food Security Summit held on 20 November 2023. It focuses on the deepening food security crisis and efforts by world leaders to end world hunger.

The United Kingdom will host the Global Food Security Summit on 20 November 2023, where leading experts will come together to “tackle the causes of food insecurity and malnutrition, including through cutting edge UK-funded science and technology” and it couldn’t be happening at a more crucial time. In the UK and abroad, food insecurity is on the rise.

In 2022, there were 4.7 million people, or 7% of the UK population, in food poverty. Right now, one in every 10 people on Earth is unsure where their next meal will come from and an estimated 345 million people are facing acute hunger and starvation, a rise of 119% since 2019.

Yet, less than 12% of the UK’s military budget could end hunger worldwide for a year.

While the World Food Programme (WFP) was able to raise a record-breaking 14 billion dollars in 2022, it was still way short of the 40 billion dollars it needs annually to feed the world’s hungry.

If the last year has shown us anything, it’s that a butterfly’s wings flapping on one side of the world is capable of driving hunger on the other.

The biggest factor driving hunger is conflict. 70% of the world’s hungry live in areas experiencing conflict and violence. Putin’s invasion of the Ukraine in 2022 caused a ripple (domino) effect around the world, raising the prices of wheat, grain, and fertiliser, as the ongoing war has limited or entirely disrupted access to these vital food-producing essentials for the rest of the world.

The climate crisis is the second biggest driver of hunger in the world, undermining (reducing) people’s ability to feed themselves and their families through the destruction of lives, crops, and livelihoods.

The Global Food Security Summit will take place against this backdrop in London and will focus on new approaches to tackle preventable deaths of children, building climate-resilient (strong) and sustainable (renewable) food systems, supporting early action to prevent and reduce the impact of humanitarian crises, and using science and technology to boost food security for people in the hardest-hit countries.

SOURCE 3B

The extract below was taken from an article titled: Globalised food systems are making hunger worse. It highlights how globalisation has contributed to food insecurity throughout the world.

From COVID-19 to Russian President Vladimir Putin's war on the Ukraine to climate change, it seems all the calamities (disasters) afflicting (troubling) the world are converging (moving) to make hunger worse. The world has not seen hunger at these levels for years. The world's food system is more interconnected and complex than ever, built upon layers of transnational (beyond national boundaries) dependencies. It is why a war in Europe can exacerbate (worsen) a famine in Somalia — a country which imports most of its wheat and saw its supply of bread all but collapse overnight when exports of Ukrainian wheat ceased. But instead of reducing the fragility (weakness) of the food system, the latest international efforts led by the United States to end hunger are only exacerbating (make worse) it especially for Africa by globalising the system further. US President Joe Biden has promised African leaders gathered in Washington that the United States is "all in" on Africa. But the US needs to make sure that it is "all in" in the right way, particularly when it comes to food. Climate change-related weather events, inflation and the Ukraine war have aggravated (upset) these stresses, rendering a complex and highly industrialised food system unable to serve the neediest people in the world even as it maintains steady supplies for the Global North. It is increasingly clear that in moments when the world is under severe stress, globalisation is not a strength but a weakness. Today, 80 percent of the world's population depends at least partly on food imports to eat, and the money they spend on imported food has tripled in the past 25 years. About half of the 50 countries with the highest pandemic-induced price increases are also among the countries most dependent on food imports, and about three-quarters of those crops originate in the Global South.

SOURCE 3D

The source below was taken from an article titled: 'World Bank's response to rising Food Insecurity'. It highlights the actions taken by the international institutions and the World Bank to alleviate food insecurity in developing countries.

As part of a comprehensive (extensive), global response to the food security crisis, in April 2022 the World Bank announced that it is making up to 30 billion dollars available over a period of 15 months, including 12 billion dollars in new projects. The financing is to boost food and nutrition security, reduce risks, and strengthen food systems, support producers and consumers, facilitate increased trade in food and trade inputs, support vulnerable households and invest in sustainable food and nutrition security.

In May, the World Bank Group and the G7 presidency (Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the United Kingdom and the USA), co-convened (organised) the Global Alliance for Food Security, which aims to catalyse (activate) an immediate and concerted (combined) response to the unfolding global hunger crisis. The Alliance has developed the publicly accessible Global Food and Nutrition Security Dashboard, which provides timely information for global and local decision-makers to help improve coordination of the policy and financial response to the food crisis.

The heads of the IMF (International Monetary Fund), World Bank Group, WFP (World Food Programme), and WTO (World Trade Organisation) released a Third Joint Statement on February 8, 2023. The statement calls to prevent a worsening of the food and nutrition security crisis, further urgent actions are required to rescue hunger hotspots, facilitate trade, improve the functioning of markets, enhance the role of the private sector, and reform and repurpose (reuse) harmful subsidies with careful targeting and efficiency.

QUESTION 3: HOW HAS GLOBALISATION AFFECTED FOOD SECURITY IN DEVELOPED AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES IN THE 21ST CENTURY?

Study Sources 3A, 3B, 3C and 3D and answer the questions that follow.

3.1 Refer to Source 3A.

- 3.1.1 According to the source, why will leading experts come together at the Global Food Security Summit in November 2023? (1 x 2) (2)
- 3.1.2 Explain the term summit in the context of the Global Food Security Summit held in November 2023. (1 x 2) (2)
- 3.1.3 Identify from the source, the TWO biggest factors driving world hunger. (2 x 1) (2)
- 3.1.4 What, do you think, is implied by the phrase, "a butterfly's wings flapping on one side of the world is capable of driving hunger on the other" in the context of globalisation? (1 x 2) (2)
- 3.1.5 Using the information in the source and your own knowledge, explain the impact of the invasion of the Ukraine on food security. (2 x 2) (4)
- 3.1.6 Give TWO new approaches from the source, which the Global Food Security Summit will use to boost food security in poorer countries. (2 x 1) (2)

3.2 Read Source 3B.

- 3.2.1 Identify TWO calamities in the source that made world hunger worse. (2 x 1) (2)
- 3.2.2 Define the term globalisation in your own words. (1 x 2) (2)
- 3.2.3 Comment on what you think is implied by the statement 'instead of reducing the fragility (weakness) of the food system, the latest international efforts by the United States to end hunger are only exacerbating (make worse) it, especially for Africa.' (1 x 2) (2)
- 3.2.4 Using the information in the source and your own knowledge, explain why a highly industrialised food system is unable to maintain food security in poorer countries. (1 x 2) (2)

3.3 Consult Source 3C.

3.3.1 Explain the messages that are conveyed in the cartoon. (2 x 2) (4)

3.3.2 Comment on the limitations of the source to a historian studying food security in developed countries. (2 x 2) (4)

3.4 Study Source 3D.

3.4.1 Name TWO new projects that the World Bank intended to finance as part of the global response to the food security crisis. (2 x 1) (2)

3.4.2 Identify any THREE countries that are members of the G7 grouping. (3 x 1) (3)

3.4.3 Name ONE organisation that aimed to prevent the worsening of the food and nutrition security crisis. (1 x 1) (1)

3.4.4 Using the information in the source and your own knowledge, explain how the World Bank group and the G7 group planned to eradicate world hunger. (1 x 2) (2)

3.5 Refer to Sources 3C and 3D. Explain how the information in Source 3C supports the evidence in Source 3D regarding the challenges of food insecurity in the world. (2 x 2) (4)

3.6 Using the information in the relevant sources and your own knowledge, write a paragraph of about EIGHT lines (about 80 words) explaining how globalisation has affected food security in developed and developing countries in the 21st century. (8)

SECTION B: ESSAY QUESTIONS

Answer at least ONE question, but not more than TWO questions, in this section.

Your essay should be about THREE pages long.

QUESTION 4: CIVIL RESISTANCE, 1970s TO 1980s: SOUTH AFRICA

To what extent did self-assertiveness, promoted by the Black Consciousness Movement, influence black South Africans to challenge the apartheid regime in the 1970s?

Support your line of argument with relevant historical evidence.

[50]QUESTION 5: THE COMING OF DEMOCRACY TO SOUTH AFRICA AND COMING TO TERMS WITH THE PAST

The process of negotiations for a democratic South Africa was riddled (filled) with violence and tensions that almost derailed the birth of a new South Africa.

Do you agree with the statement? Use relevant historical evidence to substantiate your line of argument.

[50]QUESTION 6: THE END OF THE COLD WAR AND A NEW WORLD ORDER: THE EVENTS OF 1989

Critically discuss how Gorbachev's reforms led to the collapse of communism and the disintegration of the Soviet Union, which ultimately brought change in the South African landscape from 1989.

Use relevant historical evidence to support your line of argument.

MARKING GUIDELINES

HISTORY (PAPER 2) (10792)

30 pages

1. SOURCE-BASED QUESTIONS

1.1 The following cognitive levels were used to develop source-based questions:

Cognitive Levels	Historical skills	Weighting of questions
LEVEL 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Extract evidence from sources Selection and organisation of relevant information from sources Define historical concepts/terms 	30% (15)
LEVEL 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Interpretation of evidence from sources Explain information gathered from sources Analyse evidence from sources 	40% (20)
LEVEL 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Interpret and evaluate evidence from sources Engage with sources to determine their usefulness, reliability, bias and limitations Compare and contrast interpretations and perspectives presented in sources and draw independent conclusions 	30% (15)

1.2 The information below indicates how source-based questions are assessed:

- In the marking of source-based questions, credit needs to be given to any other valid and relevant viewpoints, arguments, evidence or examples.
- In the allocation of marks, emphasis should be placed on how the requirements of the question have been addressed.
- In the marking guidelines, the requirements of the question (skills that need to be addressed) as well as the level of the question are indicated in italics.

1.3 Assessment procedures for source-based questions:

- Use a tick (✓) for each correct answer.
- Pay attention to the mark scheme e.g. (2 x 2) which translates to two reasons and is given two marks each (✓✓✓✓); (1 x 2) which translates to one reason and is given two marks (✓✓).
- If a question carries 4 marks then indicate by placing 4 ticks (✓✓✓✓).

Paragraph questions

Paragraphs are to be assessed globally (holistically). Both the content and structure of the paragraph must be taken into account when awarding a mark. The following steps must be used when assessing a response to a paragraph question:

- Read the paragraph and place a bullet (•) at each point within the text where the candidate has used relevant evidence to address the question.
- Re-read the paragraph to evaluate the extent to which the candidate has been able to use relevant evidence to write a paragraph.
- At the end of the paragraph indicate the ticks (✓) that the candidate has been awarded for the paragraph; as well as the level (1, 2 or 3) as indicated in the holistic rubric and a brief comment, e.g.

_____ • _____ • _____
 _____ • _____ ✓✓✓✓

LEVEL 2

Used mostly relevant evidence to write a basic paragraph.

- Count all the ticks for the source-based question and then write the mark on the bottom margin to the right, e.g. $\left(\frac{32}{50}\right)$
- Ensure that the total mark is transferred accurately to the front/back cover of the answer script.

2. ESSAY QUESTIONS

2.1 The essay questions require candidates to:

Structure their argument in a logical and coherent manner. They need to select, organise and connect the relevant information so that they are able to present a reasonable sequence of facts or an effective argument to answer the question posed. It is essential that an essay has an introduction, a coherent and balanced body of evidence and a conclusion.

2.2 Marking of essay questions

Markers must be aware that the content of the answer must be guided by the marking guidelines. Candidates may have any other relevant introduction and/or conclusion than those included in a specific essay marking guideline for a specific essay.

2.3 Global assessment of the essay

The essay will be assessed holistically (globally). This approach requires the teacher to assess the essay as a whole, rather than assessing the main points of the essay separately. This approach encourages the learner to write an original argument by using relevant evidence to support the line of argument. The learner will not be required to simply regurgitate content (facts) in order to achieve a level 7 (high mark). This approach discourages learners from preparing essays and reproducing them without taking the specific requirements of the question into account. Holistic marking of the essay credits learners' opinions that are supported by evidence. Holistic assessment, unlike content-based marking, does not penalise language inadequacies as the emphasis is on the following:

- The learner's interpretation of the question
- The appropriate selection of factual evidence (relevant content selection)
- The construction of an argument (planned, structured and has an independent line of argument)

2.4 Assessment procedures of the essay

2.4.1 Keep the synopsis in mind when assessing the essay.

2.4.2 During the reading of the essay, ticks need to be awarded for a relevant introduction (which is indicated by a bullet in the marking guidelines), the main aspects/body of the essay that sustains/defends the line of argument (which is indicated by bullets in the marking guideline) and a relevant conclusion (which is indicated by a bullet in the marking guideline).

For example, in an essay where there are five (5) main points there could be about seven (7) ticks.

2.4.3 Keep the PEEL structure in mind when assessing an essay.

P	Point: The candidate introduces the essay by taking a line of argument/making a major point. Each paragraph should include a point that sustains the major point (line of argument) that was made in the introduction.
E	Explanation: The candidate should explain in more detail what the main point is about and how it relates to the question posed (line of argument).
E	Example: The candidates should answer the question by selecting content that is relevant to the line of argument. Relevant examples should be given to sustain the line of argument.
L	Link: Candidates should ensure that the line of argument is sustained throughout the essay and is written coherently.

2.4.4 The following symbols MUST be used when assessing an essay:

- Introduction, main aspects and conclusion not properly contextualised
- Wrong statement
- Irrelevant statement
- Repetition
- Analysis
- Interpretation
- Line of Argument

2.5 The matrix

2.5.1 Use of the matrix in the marking of essays:

In the marking of essays, the criteria as provided in the matrix should be used. When assessing the essay, note both the content and presentation. At the point of intersection of the content and presentation based on the seven competency levels, a mark should be awarded.

- (a) The first reading of essays will be to determine to what extent the main aspects have been covered and to allocate the content level (on the matrix).

C	LEVEL 4

- (b) The second reading of essays will relate to the level (on the matrix) of presentation.

C	LEVEL 4
P	LEVEL 3

- (c) Allocate an overall mark with the use of the matrix.

C	LEVEL 4	} 26 – 27
P	LEVEL 3

Guidelines for allocating a mark for Level 1:

- Question not addressed at all/totally irrelevant content/no attempt to structure the essay = 0
- Content selection includes basic and generally irrelevant information; no attempt to structure the essay = 1 – 6
- Question inadequately addressed and vague; little attempt to structure the essay = 7 – 13

SECTION A: SOURCE-BASED QUESTIONSQUESTION 1: HOW DID CIVIC ORGANISATIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA RESPOND TO PW BOTHA'S REFORMS AND APARTHEID RESTRICTIONS IN THE 1980S?1.1 1.1.1 [Extraction of information from Source 1A – L1]

- Lifting the State of Emergency
- Removing police and army from townships
- Releasing all political prisoners and detainees (3 x 1) (3)

1.1.2 [Extraction of information from Source 1A – L1]

- Not buying from mainly white-owned shops
- Not buying from shops owned by black collaborators within the apartheid regime (any 1 x 1) (1)

1.1.3 [Definition of concept from Source 1A – L1]

- The State of Emergency was a cruel and repressive way used by the apartheid government to restrict anti-apartheid activities in the townships
- The government could arrest or kill activists just to stop activities in the township
- Police and the army were given extra powers to control the political situation in the country
- Curfew was introduced in the townships to control political activity (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

1.1.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 1A – L2]

- Ideological differences between the members
- AZAPO supported ideas of not working with whites and UDF was multiracial (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

1.1.5 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 1A – L2]

- Community leaders wanted to guide and empower consumer boycott activists so that boycotts were well-organised and had solid direction
- They wanted to ensure the boycott did not degenerate into criminal activity/lawlessness
- So that the boycott could achieve the desired outcomes
- So that their activities had discipline and high moral (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

1.2 1.2.1 [Extraction of information from Source 1B – L1]

- There was a lot of activity and uprisings in most of the townships at that time (1 x 1) (1)

1.2.2 [Extraction of information from Source 1B – L1]

- The street committees
- The block committees
- The yard committees (any 2 x 1) (2)

1.2.3 [Interpretation of information from Source 1B – L2]

- (a)
- People in the townships refused to pay for staying in the houses that belonged to the state or someone affiliated
 - Any other relevant response (1 x 2) (2)
- (b)
- People stopped buying from white-owned shops or shops belonging to apartheid collaborators (supporters)
 - People in the townships were forced to buy from black owned Shops
 - Demonstrations were held outside targeted stores or companies to raise awareness and pressure them.
 - Any other relevant response (any 1 x 2) (2)

1.2.4 [Interpretation of information from Source 1B – L2]

- He meant that Alexandra also joined other townships in boycotting rent payments
 - People in Alexandra stopped buying from boycotted/white owned shops.
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

1.2.5 [Determination of the reliability of Source 1B – L3]

THE SOURCE IS RELIABLE BECAUSE:

- It is first-hand information/ primary source coming from Mr Bapela responding during the TRC hearings/contains Bapela's own/original words/testimony given at TRC hearings
 - Mr Bapela was an activist who was directly involved in the activities/formation of the civic organisations
 - Mr Bapela was involved in travelling between the Eastern Cape and Alexandra and thus had the direct experience of mobilised Civic organisations in different townships
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 2 x 2) (4)

1.3 1.3.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 1C – L1]

- Sending of 7 000 South African Defence Force (SADF) troops into the black townships of the Vaal to crush the uprising. (1 x 1) (1)

1.3.2 [Definition of a historical term from Source 1C – L2]

- An organisation/protests which opposed compulsory military training of white males that was introduced by Botha in the 1980s.
- An organisation/a protest which fought for the end of a government policy where young white men were forced to go for compulsory military training as assigned to maintain the brutality of the apartheid government in the 1980s/to crush any black opposition to apartheid laws in the 1980s
(Any other relevant response.) (1 x 2) (2)

1.3.3 [Extraction of evidence from Source 1C – L1]

- 'The UDF national leadership was in disarray (disorder) at the time – either in detention or in hiding. (1 x 1) (1)

1.3.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 1C – L2]

- The community based organisations were powerful, and able to undermine apartheid laws through a work stay away however the apartheid government was determined to curb any further protests
(Any other relevant response.) (1 x 2) (2)

1.3.5 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 1C – L2]

- They claimed that policemen and councillors collaborated with the government and therefore had to be killed
- They believed that some people were police/government informers / sell-outs/spies and thus deserved to be killed/necklaced
(Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

1.3.6 [Extraction of evidence from Source 1C – L1]

- 12 people (1 x 1) (1)

1.4 1.4.1 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 1D – L2]

- It was created to call on consumers to stop buying from white shops/to start buying from black-owned shops
- It was created to request/demand the government to stop the killings/use of guns/violence in the black communities
- It demanded that the government and employers pay better salaries

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 2 x 2) (4)

1.4.2 [Extraction of evidence from Source 1D – L1]

- (a) We demand fewer guns
we demand higher wages (any 1 x 1) (1)
- (b) Support consumer boycott/logo of young and old people (1 x 1) (1)

1.5 [Comparison of information Source 1B and 1D – L3]

- Source 1B explains how people were discouraged from buying from white-owned shops (consumer boycott) and in 1D poster demands support for a consumer boycott
- Source 1B says community members including young people were shot at in the townships and Source 1D calls on the government to reduce the guns/violence in townships

(Any other relevant response.)

(2 x 2) (4)

1.6 [Interpretation, evaluation and synthesis of information from relevant sources – L3]

- Civic organisations called for the consumer boycott/stop buying from white-owned shops (Sources 1A, 1B, 1C and 1D)
- They demanded the lifting of the state of emergency (Source 1A)
- They demanded that army and guns be removed from the black communities' areas (Sources 1A and 1D)
- Had demands for local and student demands in institutions of learning (own knowledge)
- Many protests and demonstrations took place as a form of commemoration of some events like the Sharpeville massacre and the Soweto uprising (Sources 1B and 1C)
- Communities demonstrated after the burial of prominent anti-apartheid activists
- They formed street, block and yard committees to take care of communities when government collaborators were expelled (Source 1B)
- Boycotted rent in townships in the Transvaal (own knowledge)

- In the Transvaal they organised the biggest stayaway ever seen in 35 years. (own knowledge)
 - The civic organisations fought against the collaborators of the government like police informers, policemen and councillors elected by apartheid institutions (Sources 1B,1C).
 - They demanded better wages (Source 1D)
 - Called on all people from all walks of life, all genders and the youth and old people to demonstrate and support anti-apartheid activism (own knowledge)
- (Any other relevant response.)

Use the following rubric to allocate marks:

LEVEL 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Uses evidence in an elementary manner, e.g. shows no or little understanding in explaining how Civic organisations in South Africa responded to PW Botha's reforms and apartheid restrictions in the 1980s. Uses evidence partially or cannot write a paragraph on the topic. 	MARKS 0 – 2
LEVEL 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Evidence is mostly relevant and relates to a great extent to the topic, e.g. shows some understanding in explaining how Civic organisations in South Africa responded to PW Botha's reforms and apartheid restrictions in the 1980s. • Uses evidence in a very basic manner to write a paragraph. 	MARKS 3 – 5
LEVEL 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Uses relevant evidence, e.g. demonstrates a thorough understanding in explaining how Civic organisations in South Africa responded to PW Botha's reforms and apartheid restrictions in the 1980s. • Uses evidence very effectively in an organised paragraph that shows an understanding of the topic. 	MARKS 6 – 8

QUESTION 2: HOW DID THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION (TRC) DEAL WITH THE CRADOCK FOUR MURDER CASE?

2.1 2.1.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 2A – L1]

- 'The need to create an institution for the restoration of the justice that had been denied to many victims who were killed during apartheid rule'

(1 x 2) (2)

2.1.2 [Definition of a term from source 2A – L1]

- An approach to justice that seeks to repair harm by providing an opportunity to those harmed and those who take responsibility for the harm to communicate and address their needs in the aftermath of a political crime
- Restorative Justice requires the perpetrators to assume responsibility for the violation of human rights and reconcile with the victims without any form of punishment
- The intent of the restorative Justice is to restore a feeling of safety and security, promote harmony and restore dignity and respect to all those affected.
- A form of justice that seeks to restore the dignity of both perpetrators and victims

(Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

2.1.3 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 2A – L2]

- To encourage perpetrators to tell the truth in exchange for amnesty
- Punishment will discourage perpetrators to come forward
- To encourage reconciliation between the two parties
- To bring closure to the many victims and their families in the form of full disclosure of the truth

(Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

2.1.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 2A – L2]

- The perpetrators had to come forward, confess the whole truth and prove that their crimes were politically motivated

(Any other relevant response.) (1 x 2) (2)

2.1.5 [Extraction of evidence from Source 2A – L1]

- Matthew Goniwe
- Sparrow Mkhonto
- Fort Calata
- Sicelo Mhlauli

(any 3 x 1) (3)

2.2 2.2.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 2B – L1]

- They were intercepted by the security police on their way home, and their charred remains were discovered days later
 - Badly burnt, their bodies each bore (had) numerous stab wounds
 - Forensic reports confirmed signs of torture and other physical harm
- (any 2 x 1) (2)

2.2.2 [Extraction of evidence from Source 2B- L1]

- '... the identities of the killers began to emerge at the two inquests (investigations), including later when they applied for amnesty to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission'
- (1 x 2) (2)

2.2.3 [Explanation of the term from Source 2B – L2]

- Official pardon (forgiveness) for politically motivated crimes/ atrocities on condition that the perpetrators come forward and gave full disclosure of atrocities/human rights violations they committed during the apartheid era (1960 –1994)
 - Official pardon (forgiveness) given to perpetrators of human rights violations by the TRC
 - Perpetrators who appeared before the TRC were excluded from any form of prosecution for their political crimes
- (Any other relevant response.) (1 x 2) (2)

2.2.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 2B – L2]

- President De Klerk was under pressure from various groups such as the Black Sash/the families of the Cradock Four/media
 - The apartheid state had initially denied their involvement in the murder of the Cradock Four however, they (the perpetrators) later applied for amnesty at the TRC which was an admission of guilt/involvement
 - The families of the Cradock Four wanted the security police who were denied amnesty to be prosecuted by the NPA/wanted justice for their loved ones
 - There was slow progress in the prosecution of the security police involved in the murder of the Cradock Four
 - There was suspicion that former South African president was implicated in the murder of the Cradock Four/interest groups believed that there was a cover up by the police/they wanted to know who ordered the hit
 - After the military signal was published/exposed in the media which implicated the government
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

2.2.5 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 2B – L2]

- That the police were given instruction to urgently kill the Cradock Four
- It implies that the apartheid security police had planned to kill the Cradock Four
- It implies that the Cradock Four were on a secret police hit list for their active participation in the struggle against apartheid in the Cradock area
- The security police conspired to remove activists that challenged the apartheid laws in the Cradock area

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 1 x 2)

2.3 2.3.1 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 2C – L2]

- To invite/encourage both perpetrators and victims to appear before the TRC and testify about human rights abuses they committed/suffered during apartheid
- To inform the public about the atrocities that were committed during apartheid
- To encourage people to speak the truth about their involvement in political killings in the past
- To inform the public that there were TRC hearings taking place throughout the country
- To highlight the purpose of the TRC – truth telling and reconciliation
- To encourage the perpetrators and victims to unite and reconcile

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 2 x 2)

(4)

2.3.2 *[Interpretation of evidence from Source 2C – L2]TRC hearings were meant to:

- Encourage both perpetrators and victims to tell the truth/make full disclosure about human rights violations
- Encourage apartheid agents/security police to come forward and tell victims about the whereabouts of their loved ones
- Promote healing/unity and reconciliation between perpetrators and their victims

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 2 x 2)

(4)

2.4 Use Source 2D

2.4.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 2D – L1]

- To sue the state for delaying the prosecution of those responsible for their deaths (1 x 2) (2)

2.4.2 [Extraction of evidence from Source 2D – L1]

- Hermanus Barend du Plessis (1 x 1) (1)

2.4.3 [Evaluating the usefulness of evidence from Source 2D – L3]

A historian would regard the source as USEFUL because:

- It is a primary source /The source contains Mrs Calata's original words
 - Mrs Calata's views as wife of one of the victims gives insight into the frustrations the families experienced in their quest for justice
 - It gives insight on how the NPA deliberately delayed prosecutions of the Cradock Four murderers after the case was referred to the TRC
 - It gives insight on how the NPA delayed to prosecute the remaining/ the last living suspect in the murder case, Barend Du Plessis until he died denying the families the closure they needed
 - The source highlights that the Cradock Four families did not get the justice they wanted regarding their loved ones
 - It highlights the suspicion from the victims family that the government had exchanged freedom at the expense of their loved ones
 - It is corroborated by Source 2B which says that the apartheid state denied its involvement in the murder of Cradock Four
- (Any other relevant response.) (2 x 2) (4)

2.4.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 2D – L2]

- Mrs Calata meant that it seems the government is protecting some members of the ANC who were involved in the murder of the Cradock Four/there was a cover up for some members of the ANC by the government
 - She believes that De Klerk knew something about the killing of her husband and others
 - The government might be delaying cases because it might have been agreed as part of a political settlement reached at negotiations for democracy that some cases be set aside
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

2.5 [Comparison of evidence from Source 2C and 2D – L3]

- In Source 2C the TRC encouraged the perpetrators to tell the truth/make full disclosure of their involvement in human rights violations whilst Source 2D mentions that the Cradock Four families sued the state for delaying the prosecution of apartheid security police who were denied amnesty because they did not disclose the truth
 - In Source 2C the TRC encouraged the apartheid agents/security police to come forward and tell victims about the whereabouts of their loved ones so that they could heal and reconcile whilst Source 2D states that Barend Du Plessis the last living suspect in the murder case had died without disclosing the truth and the families not getting the closure they needed
 - In Source 2C the TRC calls for reconciliation in the TRC whilst source 2D highlights that Mrs Calata felt dissatisfied with how the NPA(acting on recommendations of the TRC) is dealing with the victims families/felt that NPA was protecting members of the ANC
 - In Source 2C the TRC calls for working together in the TRC whilst source 2D highlights that Mrs Calata felt dissatisfied with how the NPA(acting on recommendations of the TRC) is dealing with the victims families/felt that NPA was protecting members of the ANC
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 2 x 2) (4)

2.6 [Interpretation, evaluation, and synthesis of evidence from relevant sources – L3]

Candidates could include the following aspects in their responses:

- The TRC aimed at bringing closure to the families of victims if perpetrators made full disclosure of the truth (Source 2A)
- At the TRC the apartheid state denied its involvement in the murder of the Cradock Four (Source 2B)
- 2 Inquests into their murders were held in 1987 and 1993 after a leaked secret military signal was made public by New Nation newspaper (own knowledge)
- No one was prosecuted after it was declared they were killed by ‘unknown persons’ in the first inquest (own knowledge)
- The second inquest pointed a finger of suspicion to SAP and SADF, the two security forces did not investigate further (own knowledge)
- The Cradock Four killers applied for amnesty to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission without making full disclosure (Source 2B)
- The TRC created a platform for victims and perpetrators to tell their stories about human rights abuses (Source 2C)
- They believed that there was a cover up by the police regarding who ordered the hit (Source 2D)
- The families of the Cradock Four wanted the security police who were denied amnesty to be prosecuted by the NPA (Source 2D)

- The docket was lost by the NPA, legal battle by Lukhanyo Calata and families has led to a new body DPCI (Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation) to agree to pick up the case (own knowledge)
 - The families wanted justice for their loved ones' but there was slow progress in the prosecution of the security police involved in the murder of their family members (Source 2D)
 - The Cradock Four families did not get closure because Barend Hermanus Du Plessis the last living suspect in the murder case had died without telling the truth (Source 2D and own knowledge)
 - They feel no justice was served and hence do not have closure (own knowledge)
 - Thus far the NPA has failed to carry out its constitutional mandate (own knowledge)
- (Any other relevant response.)

Use the following rubric to allocate a mark:

LEVEL 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Uses evidence in an elementary manner, e.g., shows no or little understanding of how the TRC dealt with the Cradock Four murder case. • Uses evidence partially or cannot write a paragraph on the topic. 	MARKS 0 – 2
LEVEL 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Evidence is mostly relevant and relates to a great extent to the topic, e.g., shows some understanding of how the TRC dealt with the Cradock Four murder case. • Uses evidence in a very basic manner to write a paragraph. 	MARKS 3 – 5
LEVEL 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Uses relevant evidence, e.g., demonstrates a thorough understanding of how the TRC dealt with the Cradock Four murder case. • Uses evidence very effectively in an organised paragraph that shows an understanding of the topic. 	MARKS 6 – 8

QUESTION 3: HOW HAS GLOBALISATION AFFECTED FOOD SECURITY IN BOTH DEVELOPED AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES IN THE 21st CENTURY?

3.1 3.1.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3A – L1]

To tackle the causes of food insecurity and malnutrition (1 x 2) (2)

3.1.2 [Definition of a term from Source 3A – L2]

- A meeting between heads of state of the Global North to tackle world hunger
 - A meeting between heads of state in capitalist countries to eradicate food insecurity
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

3.1.3 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3A – L1]

- Conflict
 - Violence
 - Climate crisis
- (any 2 x 1) (2)

3.1.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 3A – L2]

- The world is deeply interconnected and a small occurrence in one side of the world can cause a major disturbance in other areas.
 - A war/climate crisis in one side of the world can result in a food crisis throughout the world
 - Globalisation means that something small happening in the developed world can have a much larger effect in the developing countries
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

3.1.5 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 3A – L2]

- Millions of tons of grain were blocked by Russia in the Black Sea ports preventing food assistance to vulnerable nations
 - Rising cost of living in developing countries
 - Rising fuel prices affected food delivery to vulnerable countries
 - Increase in hunger levels in poorer countries
 - Shortage of sunflower/cooking oil/wheat/animal feeds
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 2 x 2) (4)

3.1.6 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3A – L1]

- Build climate-resilient and sustainable (renewable) food systems
- Prevent and reduce humanitarian crises
- Using science and technology to boost food security for people in the hardest-hit countries (any 2 x 1) (2)

3.2 3.2.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3B – L1]

- COVID-19
- War on Ukraine
- Climate change (any 2 x 1) (2)

3.2.2 [Definition of term from Source 3B – L1]

- Globalisation is the process through which the flow of ideas, people, goods, services and capital has led to the integration of economies and societies
 - Globalisation is a term used to describe how trade and technology (internet) have made the world into a more connected and interdependent place/village
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

3.2.3 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 3B – L2]

- The USA monopolises global food trade
 - The food system has become more globalised resulting in competition for food purchases
 - Massive use of chemicals and hybrid plants in developed countries (USA) are impacting agricultural systems in developing countries
 - A large amount of money from developed countries such as the USA is spent on food imports in developing countries
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 1 x 2) (2)

3.2.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 3B – L2]

- Because of an increase in the population in poorer countries industrialised countries find it difficult to provide food security for an ever increasing population
- Climate change, inflation and wars, example the Ukrainian war, puts a strain on highly industrialised countries, thereby making it difficult for them to help the poorer countries
- Water insecurity and climate change in Africa results in poor harvest and making it difficult to feed the growing population in poorer countries
- Civil unrest and corruption on the African continent e.g. Kenya, DRC, Angola causes instability and difficulty to import food in poorer countries
- Famine in countries like Sudan, Somalia and Ethiopia causes displacement and political instability resulting in a shortage of food in poorer countries

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 1 x 2)

(2)

3.3 3.3.1 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 3C – L2]

- Food security is a challenge as the USA has difficulty in providing food for all its citizens (people searching for food in the dustbins)
- Food prices are high (will work for food)
- Millions of people across the globe go to bed hungry every night (we're no longer hungry, just "food-insecure")
- Poverty, unemployment and low wages lead to food insecurity and homelessness (and you ain't homeless either, "just shelter-insecure")
- Making a mockery of the seriousness of the food crises in the USA / Trying to tone down the seriousness of the hunger crisis). ("No Hunger in USA, only food-insecurity")

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 2 x 2)

(4)

3.3.2 *[Determining limitations of Source 3C – L3]The source is limited because:

- The source is one-sided, portrays the American government as not doing anything (being in denial) to deal with hunger and poverty/ American government efforts to address food security is not depicted/no government perspective
- The source is biased (against the World Bank) as it does not provide the initiatives taken by the World Bank to alleviate food insecurity
- The source does not show how the food and nutrition security programmes support vulnerable families in the USA

- The source uses emotive language- e.g. (we're no longer hungry, just 'food-insecure/and you ain't homeless either, just "shelter-insecure") to criticise the US government.
 - The issue of food insecurity is exaggerated.
 - The source can be used for propaganda purposes to influence people to blame the government/capitalism for poverty and hunger
- (Any other relevant response.) (any 2 x 2) (4)

3.4 3.4.1 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3D – L1]

- To boost food and nutrition security
 - To reduce risks
 - Strengthen food systems
 - Support producers and consumers
 - Facilitate increased trade in food and trade inputs
 - Support vulnerable households
 - Invest in sustainable food and nutrition security
- (any 2 x 1) (2)

3.4.2 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3D – L1]

- Canada
 - France
 - Germany
 - Italy
 - Japan
 - United Kingdom
 - USA
- (any 3 x 1) (3)

3.4.3 [Extraction of evidence from Source 3D – L1]

- IMF/International Monetary Fund
 - WFP/World Food Programme
 - World Bank Group
 - WTO/World Trade Organisation
- (any 1 x 1) (1)

3.4.4 [Interpretation of evidence from Source 3D – L2]

- Developed Global Food and Nutrition Security Dashboard, which provides valuable information to help them respond to the food crisis
- The World Bank is providing the financial resources/funds
- Promotes infrastructure building and the use of technology in agricultural production
- Strengthens national governments to formulate nutrition programmes
- Increases focus on responsible investments to establish environmentally-friendly infrastructure
- Reduce food loss and waste

(Any other relevant response.)

(any 1 x 2)

(2)

3.5 [Comparison of evidence in Source 3C and 3D – L3]

- Source 3C shows that food insecurity is a major challenge for the USA and Source 3D refers to the World Bank financing new projects to address food and nutrition security
- Source 3C shows that there was a hunger crisis in the USA and Source 3D refers to the G7 nations including the USA convening a Global Alliance to addressing the global hunger crisis

(Any other relevant response.)

(2 x 2)

(4)

3.6 [Interpretation, evaluation and synthesis from relevant Sources – L3]

Candidates could include the following aspects in their response:

- A Global Food Security Summit was held in November 2023 to address the food crisis looming in the world (Source 3A)
- In 2022 there were 4.7 million people experiencing food poverty (Source 3A)
- Millions of people across the globe go to bed hungry every night especially in the Global South (own knowledge)
- The Ukraine crises and other wars, COVID-19 and climate change have exacerbated food insecurity in both developed and developing countries (Source 3A, Source 3B)
- Highly industrialised countries are unable to prevent food insecurity developing in poorer developing countries (Source 3B)
- Food security policies need to promote a solution to the problem (own knowledge)
- Good governance (not corruption) is very important in eradicating poverty and food insecurity (Source 3B)
- Developed countries such as the USA experience food insecurity (Source 3C)

- One in eight Americans are food insecure (own knowledge)
 - People still do not have access to food because food prices are too high (Source 3C)
 - The World Bank has made 30 billion dollars available to address the food security crisis (Source 3D)
 - The G7 nations have developed a global Food and Nutrition Security Dashboard to help improve policy and financial response to the food crisis (own knowledge)
 - The IMF, World Bank, WFP and WTO are taking serious steps to prevent the food crisis from worsening (Source 3D)
- (Any other relevant response.)

SECTION B: ESSAY QUESTIONS

QUESTION 4: CIVIL RESISTANCE, 1970s TO 1980s: SOUTH AFRICA

[Plan and construct an original argument based on relevant evidence using analytical and interpretative skills]

SYNOPSIS

Candidates need to explain to what extent self-assertiveness promoted by the Black Consciousness Movement influenced black South Africans to challenge the apartheid regime in the 1970s.

MAIN ASPECTS

Candidates could include the following aspects in their essays:

Introduction: Candidates need to take a stance and indicate to what extent self-assertiveness promoted by the Black Consciousness Movement influenced black South Africans to challenge the apartheid regime in the 1970s.

They should also indicate how they will support their line of argument.

ELABORATION

Political vacuum created by ANC and PAC leadership being banned and being in exile – background

Empowerment of blacks for self-realisation

- To accept themselves/have self-confidence/self-reliance/sense of identity
- Empowered blacks to reject the spirit of self-pity; inferiority complex; self-alienation and domination by external forces

Political assertiveness

- Black students started to organise themselves to resist white domination by breaking away from NUSAS and formed SASO (1968)
- Black students adopted the philosophy of Black Consciousness (Role of Biko/SASO)
- SASO was for university students and SASM for schools
- BC led to the formation of the Black Peoples Convention (BPC) in 1972 which involved students, churches, communities and trade unions
- Unions aligned to the BC philosophy included the Black Parents' Association and the Black Allied Workers Union (BAWU)
- South African Students Movement formed in 1972 which exposed Blacks to the ideals of BC

- BCM and SASO organised FRELIMO Rallies (1974) -expression of assertiveness that challenged the NP
- The arrests of BC leaders heightened the political activism - an example of how government wanted to silence the assertiveness of the movement

Student self-assertiveness

- Bantu Education introduced Afrikaans as a medium of instruction in schools (1975)
- SASO and SASM influenced the formation of Soweto Students Representative Council (SSRC)
- Both black teachers and students rejected Afrikaans – as the language of the oppressor – expression of assertiveness
- Some teachers and learners were already exposed to the ideas of Biko and the BC philosophy through SASO student teachers from universities
- The departmental circular on Afrikaans (50/50) was the trigger for the Soweto uprising
- 16 June 1976 students protested peacefully against the implementation of the circular - example of assertiveness
- Police response to student protests (Hector Petersen, a 13-year-old boy was one of the first casualties of this uprising) – an example of how government wanted to silence the assertiveness of the movement/students

Self assertiveness and self-reliance through community programmes

- Biko's banishment to King Williams Town led to diverted focus to community programmes – an example of how government wanted to silence the assertiveness of the movement
- BC promoted independence from whites through Black Community Programmes to support blacks without white assistance. (Zanempilo Health Clinic/Ginsburg Educational Trust/Zimele Trust Fund/Sole Mpilo Community Health Centre/Ithuseng Community Health Programme and Winter School Projects)

Expression of assertiveness by Black workers (Labour Unions)

- Mobilised workers to form trade unions
- BC led to the formation of the Black Allied Workers Union (BAWU) – worker's strikes in Durban in 1973 – Durban Moment-challenged the NP and the employers
- Trade unions were recognised as legal by government

Expression of assertiveness through media

- Role of media that was sympathetic to the BC philosophy, e.g. The World/Thrust newspaper
- NP banned all 17 BC aligned organisations and closed down BC sympathetic newspapers – national party wanted to deal with the self assertiveness of the BC movement that challenged the apartheid regime.

(Any other relevant response.)

Conclusion: Candidates should tie up their argument with a relevant conclusion.

[50]

QUESTION 5: THE COMING OF DEMOCRACY AND COMING TO TERMS WITH THE PAST

[Plan and construct an original argument based on relevant evidence using analytical and interpretative skills]

SYNOPSIS

Candidates need to indicate whether they agree or disagree with the statement. If they agree with the statement, they need to explain how the process of negotiations for a democratic South Africa was riddled (filled) with violence and tensions that almost derailed the birth of a new South Africa.

MAIN ASPECTS

Candidates could include the following aspects in their essays:

Introduction: Candidates could agree or disagree that the process of negotiations for a democratic South Africa was riddled (filled) with violence and tensions that almost derailed the birth of a new South Africa. They should indicate how they would support their line of argument.

ELABORATION

Candidates should focus on the process of negotiations between 1990 and 1994:

- F W de Klerk took over from Botha and introduced reforms
- De Klerk's speech in parliament on 2 February 1990
- The unbanning of political and civic organisations such as the ANC and SACP
- Removal of restrictions on COSATU and AZAPO
- FW de Klerk's decision to release Mandela from prison on 11 February 1990
- A way was paved for the formal negotiations
- First meeting between FW de Klerk and Mandela – Groote Schuur 2 May 1990 (the Groote Schuur Minute)
- The issue of violence in Sebokeng that almost derailed the start of negotiations
- Followed by another meeting in Pretoria – 6 August 1990 – ANC agreed to suspend the armed struggle (the Pretoria Minute)
- CODESA 1, 19 political parties met at the World Trade Centre, Kempton Park
- AZAPO, CP and PAC delegates refused to attend the negotiations-caused tensions that almost derailed formal talks
- Right-wing Conservative Party and left-wing Pan Africanist Congress boycotted CODESA I
- IFP leader, Mangosuthu Buthelezi also refused to attend
- Violence erupted in some parts of the country – Sebokeng and Natal-threatened to derail the negotiations
- Whites-only referendum gave De Klerk a clear mandate to negotiate, which was a challenge to right-wingers

- CODESA II collapsed over majority rule/power sharing/regional powers - caused tensions
 - The National Party wanted minority veto while the ANC wanted an interim government for no longer than 18 months and simple majority rule
 - Increased violence (i.e. Boipatong – 17 June 1992; Bisho – 7 September 1992)- almost derailed the negotiation process
 - Assassination of Chris Hani led to protests which could have derailed the process of negotiations - created tensions
 - Sunset Clause was introduced by Joe Slovo – broke the negotiations deadlock
 - Storming of the World Trade Centre by the right-wing AWB
 - Record of Understanding as a result of talks between Cyril Ramaphosa and Roelf Meyer
 - St James Church bombing, Heidelberg Tavern, killing of American exchange student Amy Biehl- by APLA
 - Shell House massacre
 - Bophuthatswana massacres-almost derailed birth of a new democracy
 - Right-wing bombings across South Africa, e.g. Jan Smuts Airport
 - Final agreement for the elections was reached
 - 27 April 1994 Election
 - ANC won elections and Mandela became the first black South African president
 - Government of National Unity was established
- (Any other relevant response.)

Conclusion: Candidates should tie up their argument with a relevant conclusion

[50]

QUESTION 6: THE END OF THE COLD WAR AND A NEW ORDER: THE EVENTS OF 1989

[Plan and construct an original argument based on the relevant evidence using analytical and interpretative skills]

SYNOPSIS:

Candidates need to critically discuss how the reforms of Gorbachev led to the collapse of communism and the disintegration of the Soviet Union which ultimately brought change in the South African political landscape from 1989.

MAIN ASPECTS:

Candidates could include the following aspects in their response:

Introduction: Candidates need to take a line of argument by critically discussing the assertion that the reforms introduced by Gorbachev led to the collapse of the communism and brought about change in the political landscape in South Africa from 1989.

ELABORATION

- Gorbachev wanted to modernise the Soviet economy (perestroika), allow 'openness' (glasnost) – briefly.
- Perestroika allowed small scale private ownership and removed government control over production – shift away from communism
- Glasnost allowed people to criticise government- unknown culture under communism
- Perestroika and Glasnost led to demands for the end of communism and full democracy
- This led to the end of communism and the end of the Cold War/Russia was no longer regarded as a superpower
- These reforms would have a profound effect on the Soviet Union and South Africa
- The disintegration of the Soviet Union
- Communism was no longer seen as a 'global threat'.
- The collapse of the Soviet Union also affected South Africa.
- The apartheid regime could no longer use communism to justify its policy of apartheid

- The National Party's claim that it was protecting South Africa from a communist onslaught became unrealistic
- The National Party's claim that it was protecting the Cape sea route from a communist takeover was no longer plausible
- After being banned for so long, (30 years) the NP believed the ANC would find it difficult to transition from a liberation movement into a political party
- The NP viewed the ANC as weak and thought they could manipulate them
- The NP believed they could control the pace of change
- The USA and its allies could no longer continue to support the oppressive apartheid regime
- The collapse of the USSR also influenced the ANC to change its stance against the leaders of the apartheid regime
- The Soviet Union could no longer support the ANC economically and militarily
- In light of this, the ANC had to review its economic and political policies
- They moved away from Nationalisation and wanted to opt for a mixed economy
- They abandoned the armed struggle
- They sought recognition from Western powers
- They looked for support from the West
- MK was flown out of Angola into Uganda by the USA
- The collapse of the Soviet Union put pressure on both the National Party and the ANC to begin negotiations
- External support for both the National Party and the ANC was fading and negotiations seemed the best option for both sides
- The deadlock of the SADF at the Battle of Cuito Cuanavale led the National Party to begin negotiations with communists over the independence of Namibia
- Cuba withdrew from Angola, the SADF withdrew out of Namibia
- Since the National Party was able to negotiate with communists in Namibia this made it easier for them to talk to the ANC
- The peaceful Namibian transition convinced De Klerk that negotiations would not be a suicidal course of action
- The Western world supported a negotiated settlement in South Africa so that its challenges could be resolved peacefully and democratically
- It became evident that the National Party government could not maintain white supremacy indefinitely
- The continued repression of black South Africans would eventually lead to political instability and economic ruin
- By the late 1980s the South African economy was in a state of depression and the NP had no option but to start a process of negotiation with the ANC
- Business people called for reform, internal unrest increased and financial crisis plummeted the economy in SA

- PW Botha suffered a stroke and was succeeded by FW de Klerk
- FW de Klerk started to accept that the black struggle against apartheid was not a conspiracy directed from Moscow
- He admitted that the fall of communism had taken the 'monkey off his back'
- That he would be a fool not to take the advantage of the opportunity that the fall of communism had created
- This enabled De Klerk to engage with the liberation organisations to find a lasting solution for South Africa
- On 2 February 1990 De Klerk announced the unbanning of all anti-apartheid organisations which included the ANC, PAC and SACP and the release of political prisoners which would pave the way for talks and the birth of a democratic South Africa

(Any other relevant response.)

Conclusion: Candidates should tie up their argument with a relevant conclusion. [50]
