QUESTION PAPER

MARKS: 100

TIME: 2 Hours

This question paper consists of 04 pages and an addendum of 05 pages.

INSTRUCTIONS AND INFORMATION

1. This paper consists of SECTION A based on the prescribed content framework in the CAPS document.

SECTION A: SOURCE-BASED QUESTION

QUESTION 1: COMING TO DEMOCRACY TO SOUTH AFRICA AND COMING TO TERMS WITH THE PAST
SECTION B: ESSAY QUESTION
QUESTION 2: CIVIL RESISTANCE 1970s TO 1980s: SOUTH AFRICA: THE CRISES OF APARTHEID IN THE 1980s

2. SECTION A consists of ONE source-based question. Source material that is required to answer this question will be found in the ADDENDUM.
3. SECTION B Consist of ONE Essay question
4. ANSWER all the Questions.
5. When answering questions, candidates should apply their knowledge, skills and insight.
6. A mere rewriting of sources as answers will disadvantage candidates.
7. Number the answers correctly according to the numbering system used in this question paper.
8. Write neatly and legibly.

QUESTION 1: WAS THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (TRC) SUCCESSFUL IN HEALING THE WOUNDS OF A DIVIDED SOUTH AFRICA?

Study Sources 2A, 2B, 2C and 2D and answer the questions that follow.

1.1. Read Source 1 A

- 1.1.1 According to the source, what were the TWO crucial things that Emerged from the TRC? (2x1) (2)
- 1.1.2 Why according do you think some people were in favour of the TRC (1x2) (2)
- 1.1.3 Using the information in the source and your own knowledge, explain why you think the TRC could have had a cathartic (healing) effect for many victims. (2x2) (4)
- 1.1.4 What is implied by the words, "it has produced an archive... and hopefully learn from it", on the work of the TRC? (2x2) (4)

1.2. Study Source 1B

- 1.2.1 Why do you think the TRC encouraged perpetrators to apply for amnesty? (1x2) (2)
- 1.2.2 According to the source what were the positive aspects that we were gained from the TRC hearings? (3x1) (3)
- 1.2.3 Define the concept amnesty in your own words (1x2) (2)
- 1.2.4 According to the source, what was the biggest success of the TRC (1x2) (2)
- 1.3 Compare Sources 1A and 1B. Explain how information in Source 1A is supported by information in Source 1B regarding the healing process of the TRC (2x2) (4)

1.4. Refer to Source 2C

- 1.4.1 Explain the messages portrayed in this cartoon. Use the visual clues in the source to support your answer. (2x2) (4)
- 1.4.2 Identify any THREE 'dirty tricks' from the source the National Party committed during the 1980s (3x1) (3)

Question paper

1.5 Consult Source 2D.

1.5.1 Explain the limitations of the source to a historian researching the success of healing the wounds of the victims. (2x2) (4)

1.5.2 Why do you think the National Party and other right-wing groups accused the TRC of being a 'witch hunt'? (2x2) (4)

1.5.3 How, according to the source, would restorative justice succeed? (1 x 2) (2)

1.6 Using the information in the relevant sources and you're your own knowledge, write a paragraph of about EIGHT lines (about 80 words), Explaining how successful the TRC was in healing the wounds of a divided South Africa. (8)

ADDENDUM

This addendum consists of 04 pages.

QUESTION 1: WAS THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (TRC) SUCCESSFUL IN HEALING THE WOUNDS OF A DIVIDED SOUTH AFRICA?

The following is an extract dealing with the exposure and expression of victims during the TRC.

There are two crucial things that have come out of the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission. The first is that it has achieved a remarkable and far-ranging public exposure of the human rights violations and crimes committed under the apartheid regime ... It has forced a previously reluctant population (though, of course, there is still denial at one level) to see that apartheid was morally indefensible; that it is a crime against humanity. It has produced an archive which allows people to examine their past and hopefully learn from it.

Secondly, it has allowed ordinary people to find expression for the suffering under the regime. It has had a completely cathartic [therapeutic or healing] function for many of the victims ... It is in this sense that some form of reconciliation has already taken place.

[From The South African Truth Commission by K. Christie.]

This source deals with the positive aspects of the TRC.

The TRC also had to deal with grievances stemming from actions of both black and white during apartheid. To encourage people to come forward, limited amnesty was offered. Amnesty does not imply forgiveness or acquittal, but simply means that for any confessed crimes the perpetrator cannot be tried later in court. Those wishing for amnesty had to testify at an open hearing.

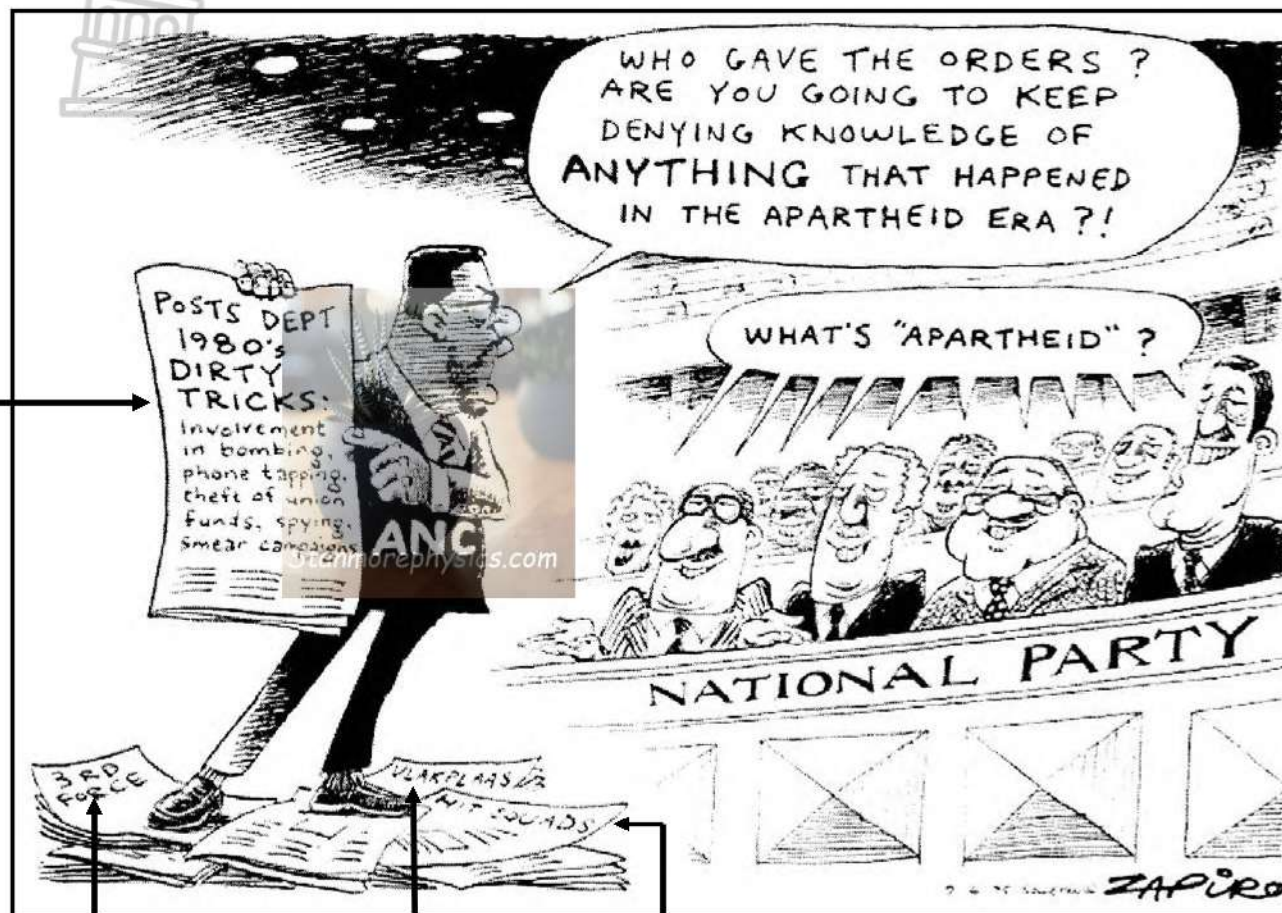

The hearings were designed to give surviving victims the opportunity to confront those who have harmed them and to ask why; and to give perpetrators the chance to express remorse if they wished. At these hearings, many victims learned what had happened to loved ones who had disappeared or who had been found dead. Others confronted for the first time the individuals responsible.

Some people were told the location of the bodies of their loved ones and were thus able to find the remains for proper burial. Though the commission had its critics, among them relatives who were denied the chance to seek justice in the courts, it has generally been viewed as a success in encouraging the nation to move on after the horrors of the apartheid era.

SOURCE 1D

The following extract is an evaluation on the work of the TRC.

One of the greatest limitations to restoring victims' dignity – and which was largely beyond the control of the Commission – was the political tension that prevailed (existed) during its operations. This stemmed (coming from) from the reluctance of the National Party and some extreme right-wing groups to see the TRC investigating aspects of the past that might damage their political credibility. These parties accused the TRC of being a 'witchhunt' rather than a genuine tool for national reconciliation, and frustrated the Commission's work by (bringing about) frequent legal actions against the TRC. The Commission's biggest political blunder was the tendency to (give in) to these political groupings in an attempt to keep them committed to the process.... (the) politically delicate task of the TRC worsened its relations with victims who were justifiably frustrated by the lack of proper justice that the position implied. For restorative justice to succeed, victims need to see offenders' express remorse (regret). That this was not forthcoming from the political party that governed the country under apartheid, dealt a severe blow to the process.

SOURCE BASED QUESTION

1.1 The following cognitive levels of were used to develop source-based questions:

COGNITIVE LEVELS	HISTORICAL SKILLS	WEIGHTING OF QUESTIONS
LEVEL 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Extract evidence from sources Selection and organization of relevant information from sources. Define historical concepts/terms 	30% (15 marks)
LEVEL 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Interpretation of evidence from sources Explain information gathered from sources Analyse evidence from sources 	40% (20 marks)
LEVEL 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Interpret and evaluate evidence from sources Engage with sources to determine its usefulness, reliability, bias and limitations Compare and contrast interpretations and perspectives presented in sources and draw independent conclusions 	30% (15 marks)

1.2 The information below indicates how source- based questions are assessed:

- In the marking of source-based questions, credit needs to be given to any other valid and relevant viewpoints, arguments, evidence, or examples.
- In the allocation of marks, emphasis should be placed on how the requirements of the question have been addressed.
- In the marking guideline, the requirements of the question (skills that need to be addressed) as well as the level of the question are indicated in italics.

2. ESSAY QUESTIONS

2.1

The essay questions require candidates to:

- Be able to structure their argument in a logical and coherent manner. They need to select, organise and connect the relevant information so that they are able to present a reasonable sequence of facts or an effective argument to answer the question posed. It is essential that an essay has an introduction, a coherent and balanced body of evidence and a conclusion

2.2. Marking of essay questions

- Markers must be aware that the content of the answer will be guided by the textbooks in use at the particular centre.
- Candidates may have any other relevant introduction and/or conclusion than those included in a specific essay marking guideline for a specific essay.
- When assessing open-ended source-based questions, learners should be credited for any other relevant answers.

2.3 Global assessment of essays

The essays will be assessed holistically (globally). This approach requires the educator to score the overall product as a whole, without scoring the component parts separately. This approach encourages the learner to offer an individual opinion by using of selected factual evidence to support an argument. The learner will not be required to simply regurgitate "facts" in order to achieve a high mark. This approach discourages learners from preparing model answers and reproduces them without considering the specific requirements of the question. Holistic essays marking credits learners' opinion supported by evidence. Holistic assessment, unlike content-based marking, does not penalize language inadequacies as the emphasis is on the following:

- The construction of argument
- The appropriate selection of factual evidence to support such argument and
- The learner's interpretation of the question

2.4 Assessment procedures of the essay

2.4.1 Keep the synopsis in mind when assessing essays.

2.4.2 During the first reading of the essays ticks need to be awarded for a relevant introduction (indicated by a bullet in marking guideline/memorandum) and a relevant conclusion (indicated by a bullet in marking guideline/memorandum) e.g. in an answer where there are 5 main points there will be 7 ticks.

2.4.3 The following additional symbols can also be used:

- Introduction, main aspects, and conclusion not properly contextualized
^
- Wrong statement -----
- Irrelevant statement
- Repetition R✓
- Analysis A✓
- Interpretation I✓

2.5 The matrix

2.5.1 Use of matrix in the marking of essays

In the marking of essays, the essays the given criteria shown in the matrix should be used. In assessing the essays note should be taken of both the content and presentation at the point of intersection of the content and presentation based on the seven competency levels, a mark should be awarded.

- (a) The first reading of essays will be to determine to what extent the main aspects have been covered and to determine the content level (on the matrix).

C	LEVEL 4

- (b) The second reading of essays will relate to the level (on the matrix) of presentation.

1.5.1

[Determine limitations from Source 2D – L3]

- Ensuring that justice was attained because of the TRC's hoped to accommodate the fears of the NP and other right-wing groups
- These groups did not ask for aspects of the truth divulged in an effort to hold onto their political credibility
- These groups did not appreciate that the main role of the TRC was to build reconciliation but rather they viewed it as a witch hunt
- Any other relevant response (any2x2) (4)

1.5.2

[Interpretation of evidence from Source 2D – L2]

- The NP had established an authoritarian regime during the apartheid era and many of its members had committed human rights violations

- The NP and other right-wing groups wished to preserve their reputations and did not want their images further humiliated
- The NP did not want to answer more questions about the reasons behind apartheid which many historians regarded as a criminal conspiracy
- Any other relevant response (any 2 x2) (4)

[Extraction of evidence from Source 1D – L1]

Victims need to see offenders express remorse (1 x 2) (2)

[Interpretation, evaluation and synthesis from relevant sources – L3]

Learners need to include the following points in their answer:

- It achieved a remarkable public exposure of human rights violations and crimes committed (Source 1A)
- The TRC exposed the apartheid era of its policies against humanity (Source 1A)
- The TRC allowed ordinary people to express their suffering under the regime (Source 1A)

QUESTION 2: Civil Resistance, 1970s, 1970s TO 1980s: SOUTH AFRICA: THE CRISIS OF APARTHEID IN THE 1980s.

[Plan and construct an original argument based on relevant evidence using analytical and interpretative skills.]

SYNOPSIS

Candidates need to agree or disagree on how the Black Consciousness Movement and Steven Biko was instrumental in challenging the apartheid government in the 1970s.

MAIN ASPECTS

Candidates could include the following aspects in their essays:

Introduction: Candidates need to take a stance and indicate how the Black Consciousness Movement and Steven Bantu Biko was instrumental in challenging the apartheid government in the 1970s.

ELABORATION

- In the 1970s Black Consciousness Movement (BCM) revived the freedom struggle
- Apartheid became increasingly oppressive in the 1970s and 1980s
- Resistance seemed a hopeless cause. BC ideas changed that mindset
- Black Consciousness (BC) began as a university student movement led by Stephen Biko which aimed to conscientise black people and instill in them a sense of self-worth and confidence to challenge the apartheid regime
- The role of Biko: Biko became involved in student politics while studying medicine at the university as a member of NUSAS – a non-racial student organization. Biko was convinced that they could not understand the needs of black South Africans and felt there was a need for own organization to speak for themselves. Biko recruited fellow students from other ethnic universities and in December 1968 drafted a constitution for the South African Students Organisation (SASO)
- SASO: Spread BC ideas across the campuses of the ethnically separated universities. Was important because it promoted black unity and solidarity, made students more politically aware, encouraged students to liberate themselves from Apartheid
- BCM: Spread out from the ethnic university campuses to the rest of South Africa. Young black people were sent into various communities to create and run clinics and to set literacy campaigns to encourage solidarity and self-reliance. In 1972, the Black People's Convention (BPC) was formed to coordinate the activities of all the various BCM groups which emerged. BC reawakened labour movements in South Africa. In 1972 SASO established a national trade union council for blacks. The Black Allied Workers Union (BAWU) was formed by Drake Koka, and it rejected white involvement in the trade union movement. Urban Workers' Strike (1973) reasons for the strike and demands of the workers. Highlights the government's reaction and impact of strikes. Viva Frelimo rallies; these rallies as national campaigns to be staged by SASO rallies accelerated tension between SASO and the South African government.

- Government perceptions of BC: At first the SA government was not concerned about the BCM as it seemed similar to its own policy of separate development.

Apartheid philosophy believed in racial segregation so the formation of SASO (black only union) seemed in accordance with apartheid theories of "own affairs". BC became stronger; it posed a challenge to the state for it had become a mass movement that sought to undermine apartheid. The Apartheid government reacted to the threat posed by the BCM by taking actions such as; banning BC leaders in 1971 from speaking in public (8 SASO leaders were banned); 8 BPC leaders were detained without trial under the Terrorism Act; SASO was banned on university campuses by 1975 and Biko was brutally murdered by the security police in 1977.

- 1976 Soweto Uprising: Learners at schools in Soweto were unhappy because; most government funding went to white schools, severe overcrowding in classes, curriculum was limited and education prepared learners for manual and unskilled labour. Introduction of Afrikaans as a medium of instruction in 1975 in black schools triggered mass protest. SASM decided to hold a mass demonstration against Afrikaans as a medium of instruction. On 16th June 1976 thousands of Soweto learners embarked on a peaceful protest. Later the march turned violent and hundreds were injured (Hastings Ndlovu and Hector Pietersen). Angered by the police actions, learners went on a rampage through the streets of Soweto and burnt symbols of apartheid like buildings and white businesses.

- Debate whether SASO (and SASM) were influenced by BCM. There were many other factors that played a role such as; poor living conditions in Soweto, influence of the ANC (political influence) and the establishment of the trade union movement. However, there is a most wide accepted idea that BC influenced the learners from Soweto. A number of SASO members became teachers once they had graduated. They introduced BC ideas to learners. SASM provided leadership training to high school learners, and it (SASM) was encouraged by SASO to concern itself with injustices within society and to spread BC ideas.

The legacy of BC on SA politics: BCM revived the struggle against apartheid.

Because of the change in attitude brought by the BCM and SASO, school children defied the apartheid state and spearheaded country wide protest. BCM political activists formed a new political organization, the Azanian Peoples' Organisation (AZAPO) in 1978. Azapo embraced BC philosophy and rejected white participation in the struggle.

- Any other relevant information

Conclusion: Candidates should tie up their argument with a relevant conclusion [50]
